DON'T KNOW HOW!

THE PARIS TEAM GETS SCALPED AT KNOXVILLE.

We are puzzled! The Paris papers say their club can play ball. But the reports from Knoxville would indicate to a man up a tree that they cannot.

They even go farther and say that they defeated Maysville's crack team, holding that as an example of their great ball-playing.

We happen to know something about our boys being defeated at Paris, however. Instead of being defeated, they made regular plays of the Hobos, giving them two games.

Having seen our boys play ball, we know that the Paris aggregation cannot defeat them.

The fact that Maysville gave them two games swelled their pates to such an enormous size that they went to Knoxville laboring under the delusion that the Indians would be dead easy.

They would have been a man from Paris allowed to work the indicator.

But, unfortunately for the Hobos, there is a gentleman in that fair Southern city whose name is Denny, and he happens to know the game.

He is not given to making the lives of visitors miserable.

The game yesterday afternoon was an excellent sample of what the Hobos know about playing ball, the score standing—

Knoxville, 8;

Paris, 0.

And that's what they would have received had they given Maysville a fair deal.

There isn't an amateur team in the state that can hit Lever or Newton as safely nine times, not excepting the "great" team at the Bourbon capital.

NOTES

Billie Eerie is now catching for Baltimore.

Next week we may expect to see the Lexingtons play ball here.

Bank errors gave the Maysville lads a nice clean about at Lexington Wednesday. The boys should give the man in the box the support he deserves.

There are prospects of the Colonels of Louisville playing here on the 10th of next month. A letter from Manager McGinnis asking for that date has been received. We say let them come; they'll draw better than the Reds, and we believe put up a better game.

A letter from Manager Bancroft of the Cincinnati Reds states that it will be impossible for him to give our boys a date this season. The Managers of our town should make Bannan come to time for the game that should have been played in this city yesterday. There are lots of people who held off from the Knoxville games to see the Reds play, and this fact in itself is a big loss to our boys.

Charles Jackson and Anna Commodore, colored, were granted license to marry.

Rev. Cyrus Riffe is holding a protracted meeting at Mt. Zion, Robertson county.

Fred Dorsey, colored, aged 54, died suddenly at the home of Mr. Lash Moran in Charleston Bottom Friday. Funeral tomorrow at 10 o'clock. Burial at the Cemetery in the Bottoms.

At Parks Hill campground Friday last, just after dinner, the large dining hall caught fire in the kitchen and it together with the booth and barber shop was destroyed. Part of the contents was saved, and the loss was covered by insurance. A new dining-hall on an improved plan is now in process of erection and will be completed in good time for the meeting.

LETTER FROM LOUISVILLE.

COLONEL TOM YOUNG'S SOUND POLITICAL ADVICE.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 17th, 1896.

Editor Public Ledger: "Take thy life, but spare my virtue," is the refrain sent by Marse Henry from "far across the deep blue sea," a companion piece for his famous call for 100,000 unarméd Kentuckians. But, joking aside, this bugle blast from Mr. Watterson has stiffened the spinal column of true Democracy throughout Kentucky wonderfully, and The Courier-Journal will be found occupying the sound-money field fully from now until the close of the polls in November, notwithstanding the threat of Don Sullivan, the brilliant Editor of Sunday Critic, to start a free silver paper here by the 15th of August. Don will have lots of fun if he does make ducks and drakes of "other people's money" in the effort to hold Kentucky in line for the Populist ticket.

But, "after the battle, mother," The Courier-Journal will still be found "doing business at the old stand," backed up by a majority of 30,000 or 30,000 of the "no-compromise-with-dishonor" voters of the state. The sentiment here is largely—I might say overwhelmingly—anti Bryan, and I am also gratified to learn that the solid men out in the state are fast lining up against the most dangerous movement ever inaugurated in this country since the memorable days of '60. I see from this week's issue of The Owingsville Outlook, one of the most ably edited Democratic papers in the Ninth Congressional District, that it repudiates the ticket and platform put up at Chicago. The Outlook is an old paper and wields a big influence. Its position insures the vote of Bath to McKinley and Pugh.

The newspaper is the representative of the advanced thought of the country, and when we see all of the leading papers of East, the South and a part of the West, without regard to past party affiliation, arrayed against the free silver heresy, at first glance it would seem that the coming contest would be almost too one-sided to be interesting. But it is because it is a heresy—because fanaticism is running rampant, that the silver cause is dangerous. Convince one of these fellows against his will and he is of the same opinion still. They know that the times are woefully out of joint; that things seem to be going to the demdition bows anyhow and that any change will be a good change. Underneath all of this there is a strong and natural current of communism—an envious jealousy of the shiftless and unfortunate against the well-to-do and prosperous which would hesitate to rifle a safe or say "stand and deliver" at the point of a pistol, yet would welcome any change, even of a violent nature, that would scatter this accumulated wealth broadcast. In the ensuing scramble they hope to get a part. It is a waste of time, therefore, to argue with the average free silver advocate. The only successful way to meet the crisis is for all of those who love the United States and desire that the credit and the honor of the Nation shall be preserved untarnished, to lay aside all thought of party or party fealty and rally to the support of McKinley, who alone can deliver the country from the control of the Jacobins. This is the class of voters to whom all appeals must be addressed, and the appeals must be pitched on a plane as high as that I have indicated.

Kentucky is one of the doubtful states. Her vote may turn the scale in November.

Silverites

Fairly stout over our Silverware—it's no thin nothing that the silverites are after. It's just as good as gold. It's better for table use—better for knives and forks than the silver. There isn't any such array of silverware in town as we have here—all in the latest shapes and fashions.

Silver Platters, Silver Cream Dishes, Silver Sugar Bowls, Silver Butter Dishes, Silver Pickle Jars, Silver Bunch Dishes, Silver Tea Services, Silver Toilette Accessories, Silver this and Silver that.

There's nothing in silver that is not here, and we want you to see our silver display.

Prices—They will speak for themselves.

J. BALLEW, Jeweler, Maysville, Ky.

her. At least the fight should be made for the cause of sound money as though this were the case. Consequently I am glad the duty of selecting a Campaign Committee has fallen to the lot of Sen. J. Roberts and Hon. John W. Yerkes. These two gentlemen hold party success higher than local partisanship, and are sure to give us a committee that will command the respect and confidence of the National Committee. This assures us a thorough organization and effective work.

One of the most delightful and pleasing musical treats was that given by the celebrated Maysville Band at Dieterich's Park last evening. The grounds were lighted by electricity, were cleaned and in good order, and those who have these concerts in charge should here in turn large crowds of our people in attendance.

White Kid Strap : : Sandals. J. HENRY PECOR.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hawkins, notice of whose serious illness was made some days since, died at her home in Maysville Wednesday, aged 67 years. Deceased was a sister of Mr. B. F. Velt of this city and was a noble Christian woman. The funeral took place Friday morning at the Maysville Baptist Church, services by the Rev. H. H. Hibbs.

Thomas Middleworth, son of Mr. W. H. Middleworth, died at Aberdeen Sunday, 30. He had been suffering from consumption of one of his kidneys, and Thursday morning Dr. B. M. Ricketts of Cincinnati, assisted by several surgeons from this city and Aberdeen, removed the badly diseased organ. The patient revived, but soon after sank into a slumber and passed away. The funeral services were held last night at 7 o'clock by Rev. W. G. Bradford of this city, and the remains were interred at Winchester, O., this morning.

Miss Retta J. Lloyd, daughter of Mr. James Lloyd of the county, and Mr. Charles J. Garrett, a prominent young business man of Plymouth, Ind., were married in this city July 4th by Judge Butchins.

One of the most delightful-looking places ever seen in the city was the beautiful grounds surrounding the residence of Mr. C. C. Dobys in the Fifth Ward last night. Numerous Japanese lanterns were hung around in the trees, making it look a veritable paradise. The occasion was a leap year party, given by the charming and interesting daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Dobys.

WE'RE FOR AMERICA! AMERICANS!

THE number of deaths in the United States last year was 972,764. One of them was a Democratic officeholder.

MR. SEWALL, the Populist-Anarchist-Democratic nominee for the Vice-Presidency, is a shipbuilder by profession. This will give his motley supporters a "clinch" on the "inside price" for a boat big enough to carry them up Salt River in November.

THE once great and patriotic Democratic party has passed into the control of Anarchists, Populists and renege Republicans; but, thank the Lord, there are tens of thousands of honest, self-respecting Democrats who will not join under such leadership.

APPLY this to the Free Silver question and you have the proposition of the mine owners of the West: A farmer borrows from a friend 100 bushels of corn, corn and wheat at the time selling for 60 cents a bushel. The friend tells him he can repay in either corn or wheat. Next year wheat is worth 30 cents and corn is worth 50 cents a bushel. The friend now repays the loan with 50 bushels of wheat. Is this honest?

Tax Democratic biographers of Mr. SEWALL, the so-called Democratic candidate for Vice-President, glorify him as a "corporation" manager. They say: "There is hardly a corporation in Sagadahoc county in which he is not a Director. He is prominent in railroad circles as well as in politics, having been President of the Maine Central and other important roads, and now being Director in many. He is a Bank President and one of the principal men in the city."

What an impressive consistency the pulpit display in supporting a man one chief claim to distinction comes in his ability to manage "grinding corporations!"

THE Louisville Times, Democratic, presents this aspect of the case for 22,400,000 citizens of the United States—mostly voters—to think about:

"Mr. BRANT will doubtless proceed at once to convince the 1,000,000 depositors in National banks, the 1,000,000 depositors in state banks, the 4,000,000 holders of life insurance policies, the 8,000,000 holders of fraternal insurance orders, the 6,000,000 holders of industrial insurance and the 1,000,000 members of building and loan associations that his election will be directly to their benefit; that free silver will not jeopardize the value of their deposits, certificates and investments, but that, on the contrary, all values will be enhanced. Should he do this, his success will not only be assured, but he will also obtain the greatest majority ever accorded a Presidential candidate. The voters are now coming down to the bare facts of the proposition, and we will soon see what we shall see."

SHADES of good old ANDREW JACKSON! Did he ever think that a Democratic National Convention would nominate a Populist for the Presidency? That Mr. BRANT is one of that ilk is shown by the Louisville Times. Speaking of him it says:

"He was elected to the Fifty-second Congress and re-elected to the Fifty-third as a Democrat. He declined to stand as a candidate for re-election to the Fifty-fourth, serving notice that he preferred the ranks of the Populists because of their free silver views, and his reappearance in a Democratic Convention would be a matter of much surprise at this time had not the Populist element gained control of the Democratic organization in Nebraska."

The latest report is that Rev. Dr. Hiner of Carrollton, who was stricken with paralysis several months ago and was all along thought to be in an incurable condition, is now rapidly improving, being able to attend services at his church.

CYCLERS' CORNER!

WHAT OUR WHEELMEN ARE DOING.

The flurry over price cutting and over-production seems to have died away. The $40 and $50 wheels; listed at from $75 to $100, are simply finding their level. Really high grade wheels are not shrinking either in quality or price.

What would wheelmen in this country say if they had to do as the Roumanians do? There every cyclist is compelled by law to have his name and address, not only on a plate fastened to his machine, but also on the glass in his lamp so that it can be read at night.

So many applications for space have already been received that the great success of both the Eastern and Western National Cycle shows is already assured. The members of the Cycle Board of Trade are, in consequence, greatly pleased over the manner in which President Coleman handled the preliminaries.

Crash suits for wheelmen are becoming wonderfully popular, particularly in the larger cities. Old-time cyclists watch this effort at display with disdain. A few years ago the cyclist dived for comfort when he went out for a ride. Now that the society element has taken up the wheel the effect can be seen in the attire of the average wheelman and wheelwoman. In the larger cities two wheelmen were seen a year ago to one today.

The popularity of race meets this year has been an emphatic surprise to many people. It was generally thought that when Class B was abolished that the masses would lose all interest in the racing question. Just the reverse has been the case. The professional races this year have been well and honestly contested, and the ever watchful L. A. W. officials will keep it that way. There is no reason why cycle racing should not have just as much of a public following as base ball and horse racing. Nearly every state will have its racing circuit in '07.

Some people are of the opinion that the League of American Wheelmen will be called upon to try to suppress road racing. Prominent L. A. W. officials talked with recently say that the organization does not recognize such sport that it might be considered unbecoming for the L. A. W. to take any official recognition of the matter. Road races this year have been so unsatisfactory—there has been so much scandal and trouble, and the practice is really so dangerous—that the chances are the local authorities will, in time, put a stop to the practice.

The cry that the bicycle trade is injuring other branches of business has become so general throughout the country that an impartial review of the situation cannot fail to be refreshing at this period. The sufferers from the popularity of the pneumatic tire vehicle are alleged to be the dealers in dry goods, shoe stores, millinery, jewelry, paints, and even wearing apparel. The theater managers also complain against the bicycle. The latter may have some ground for their argument, but the others enter very little into the merit of the statement. President Coleman of the Western Wheel Works, the company which makes the Crescent bicycle, says in refutation of the cry against cycling that a number of things should be considered before reaching a conclusion in this matter. "To begin with," said he, "you should reckon that the larger part of the money expended for bicycles is kept in almost constant circulation, going to remunerate the mechanics and middlemen, who are the vital force of the industry. These people have to pay for their clothes, their food, their shoes and what not, just the same as other folks, and a large part of the money which you, or the next person, pay for a wheel eventually passes through their hands to the merchant. There is really no hook on which can be hung that hard luck tale of the dealers in general merchandise. The season has been notably dull in branches of trade that could not possibly be affected by the bicycle business. On the other hand I am informed that the bicycle is held responsible for a 30 per cent growth in the suburban real estate business and some clothing men with whom I have conversed have the silent steed for a steeper all the year than they have ever known before. Verily, this cry against the bicycle is all hoah."

Clear headed cyclists are beginning to see the danger to which they are drifting in the matter of good road movement. Much attention has been given to cycle paths to the real detriment of the roads. Good advice to cyclists is to give for cycle paths to which it is impossible to secure good roads. The authorities of Brooklyn, N. Y., have been given a great deal of credit for the twin cycle paths running to the ocean, while between them is a boulevard which is a disgrace to any civilized community. It was much cheaper to fix up the paths than it would have been to make the boulevard acceptable to wheelmen.

For Paris Green that will kill and not fatten insects go to Chenoweth's. Miss Collins of New York, who has a fortune of $7,000,000, is worth her weight—132 pounds—in $100 bills.

"I do not advertise," says the merchant. "I do," said the Sheriff as he took possession and advertised the stock for sale for the benefit of his creditors.

ARBITRATION.

Correspondence Between United States and Great Britain

In Regard to the Settlement of Disputes Between the Two Countries.

It constitutes the first authoritative disclosure upon these great questions since Cleveland's Christmas message to Congress—Little's Progress Made.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The efforts of the United States and Great Britain to agree upon a general arbitration treaty for the settlement of all controversies through the establishment of a permanent tribunal, as well as the progress of diplomatic negotiations toward solving the Venezuelan problem are set forth in 18 communications made public by the state department this afternoon. While they constitute the first authoritative disclosures upon these great questions, the President's Christmas message to Congress, his Christmas message to Congress, it will be found that previous reports of the United Press of the negotiations between the two governments, have accurately outlined the course of events.

Little substantial progress toward a general arbitration treaty is disclosed by the documents. An outline of the proposed procedure is laid down and the views of the two governments are so explicitly stated that further discussion may be confined to narrowing the few divergences of method. The further fact is made apparent that the United States has not relaxed its vigilance in demanding a just settlement of the Venezuelan boundary question and has rejected the British proposal for arbitration by dispute under terms involving the surrender of any part of Venezuela's claims.

The correspondence opens with a letter from Ambassador Bayard to Lord Salisbury, dated February 27 last, proposing an extraordinary arbitration system for the settlement of the Venezuelan boundary question at Washington between the British ambassador and the secretary of state.

Mr. Bayard added that Secretary Olney greatly desired that there should be propounded a clear definition of the "settlements" by individuals in the disputed territory, which was excluded from the proposed arbitration.

Lord Salisbury, in reply, on March 3, said his government readily concurred in the suggestion and had instructed its ambassador in London, directing him to discuss the question, either with the Venezuelan representative or the United States, acting as the friend of the arbitration.

Lord Salisbury's instructions to Sir Julian Pauncefote, dated March 5, form the third document and are devoted to the system for general international arbitration, negotiations for the establishment of which had been ruptured by Secretary Olney's death.

Lord Salisbury's instructions to Sir Julian Pauncefote, dated March 5, form the third document and are devoted to the system for general international arbitration, negotiations for the establishment of which had been ruptured by Secretary Olney's death.

Before entering on such arbitration, the arbitrators shall select an umpire whom any competent person may choose those disagree, whether interlocutory or final, shall be decided. The decision of such umpire upon any interlocutory question shall be binding on the arbitrators. The determination of the arbitrators, or, if they disagree, the decision of the umpire, shall be the award upon all matters referred. All pecuniary claims amounting to not more than $100,000, for damages or injuries, all claims affecting diplomatic or consular privileges, alleged rights of fishery, access, navigation or commercial privilege, and all questions referred by special agreement between the two parties shall be referred to arbitration and the decision shall be final.

are welcomed with the keenest appreciation of their value and of the enlightenment and progressive spirit which animates them. But by the direction of the president he proposes a substitute and amendment that arbitration shall also be obligatory in respect of all disputes now pending or hereafter arising involving territorial rights, boundaries, sovereignty or jurisdiction, or any pecuniary claim aggregating a sum larger than 100,000 pounds and in respect of all controversies not in this treaty specially described.

Provided, however, that either congress or parliament may withdraw the same from the operation of this treaty, or if congress or parliament in session, any matters in dispute shall not be submitted to arbitration until these bodies have had opportunity to take action thereon. In the case of controversies, the award shall be final if concurred in by all the arbitrators. If not concurred in by a majority only the award shall be final unless the parties within three months after its promulgation, shall protest in writing to the arbitrators, and if the arbitrators in respect of issue of fact or of law. In every such case, the award shall be subject to the decision of the arbitrators. In three special judges of Great Britain and the United States, who shall agree upon three learned and impartial jurists to be selected by each party, they shall be equally divided upon the award to be made. The award of the arbitrators constituted whether rendered unanimously or by a majority vote shall be final.

These amendments Secretary Olney argues make all disputes must face a tripartite and places and puts where it belongs in congress and parliament the right and power to decide whether they are arbitrable or demand arbitration by force of arms. By the scheme as amended the controversy is finally ended; whereas, under the original proposition, there would be an award only in the cases in which the six appellate arbitrators favored it, and in the majority of five to one. Mr. Olney thinks such arrangements would be dangerous. In all cases in which the arbitrators are equally divided, or stood four to two, public feeling in each country would be aroused by the protracted proceedings and the chances of a general outbreak would be greatly increased.

It is also pointed out that the United States have no European alliances has more than Great Britain from the bias of foreign judges. Secretary Olney finally contends that to insist upon a treaty which is so constructed that miscarriages of justice can never occur is to insist upon the unattainable, and is equivalent to a demand for the abolition of the effort in behalf of a general system of international arbitration.

As an approximation to such results which the average and in the long run, conform to right and justice—is all that the lot of humanity permits us to expect from any plan.

In conclusion Secretary Olney says: "It only remains to observe that if the amendments should prove acceptable, no reason is given why the Venezuelan boundary dispute should not be brought within the treaty by express words of inclusion. If, however, the treaty for general arbitration can now be expected, it can not be improper to add that the Venezuelan boundary dispute seems to offer a good opportunity for some of those tentative experiments of arbitration which, as Lord Salisbury has intimated, may be decided advantage as tending to indicate the lines upon which a scheme for general arbitration can be judiciously drawn."

JUSTICE FIELD.
Of the Supreme Court of the United States, Critically Ill.
SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—The venerable and distinguished jurist, Stephen J. Field, associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, is critically ill. So serious is his condition that it was Thursday decided to be imperatively necessary that he be brought back to this city from Paso Pango, where he was sent a few days ago in the hope that the change might be of benefit to him. It is realized by Justice Field's friends that the best of medical attention is necessary to preserve the life of an aged sufferer.

A special train was dispatched from Paso Pango on Friday night states that Mr. Field's physical vigor has been sadly undermined and that he dreams making the journey to this city.

RIOTING.

The Strikers at Cleveland are in an Ugly Mood.

The Troops are Constantly Under Arms to Suppress Violence.

Several Clashes Between Soldiers and Rioters Took Place—Two Charges, With Fire Discharged, Were Made in the Street and One Striker Was Killed.

CLEVELAND, O., July 18.—All Friday there have been occurring clashes between the mob at the iron works, the police and militia. The members of the mob are in a vicious mood and they are clearing the street, two charges being necessary, in which the bayonet was freely used. But as soon as the strike was called, the mob early in the afternoon numbered 5,000, would work back against the line of strikers. The mob, who began to loot and throw stones. When the workmen had been taken away and troops were returning to their quarters, the mob, another charge being made upon Company F. Again a charge was made and cold steel was driven home so that the mob was forced to help away. At this time some one sent in a general alarm to the police station and every patrol wagon was soon dashing through the streets, causing the wildest rumors among the thousands on their way home from work. There was no need of the police reinforcements and the crowd which had been swelled to 15,000, began to melt away. It looked as if the trouble was ended, but at 7 o'clock an assault was made on a soldier who was passing along Wilson street. He fought desperately as did also a policeman who hurried to his aid. A squad of troops came to their rescue, but not before the officers had been beaten into submission.

Again the patrol wagons rushed to the scene and all they could do to force a passage through the angry mob. Everything is now in readiness to repel an outbreak which is expected during the night. Just how many strikers were hurt is uncertain, two both severely stabbed with bayonets are lying at the St. Clair hospital. They are Thomas McGraw and Thomas Garvey.

John Russell, the crippled tender who was thrown from a car by the strikers Tuesday night died Friday night of the result of a kick and while lying on the ground was kicked and received injuries which may prove fatal. The crowd on the night of the death by a charge made by Company F. There were many women in the mob, and they were apparently the most numerous. They refused to let some of them were injured by bayonet thrusts.

The situation at midnight was ominous and the streets were full of the work of the police and militia.
